CONGRATULATIONS

ON BEING PART OF SOMETHING TRULY SPECIAL

Black Inclusion Week is a celebration of Black people in organisations, communities, schools and all elements of society. The week raises awareness of the importance of Black inclusion and creates a platform for action to enable true equality for people of African and Caribbean descent, across all walks of life.

Through the NextGen Black Professionals Workplace Insights Day, you're about to embark on an enlightening journey that will offer you a glimpse into the professional world, showcasing the diversity of roles and opportunities waiting for you.

This guide is your companion on this journey. It's designed to help you capture the essence of the day, reflect on your experiences, and plot a course for your future.

BEFORE YOU GO

Your hopes for your experience day.

Overall, what do you hope to learn? Think about the industries, roles, or professionals you're most curious about.

What questions do you have? Whether it's about career paths, daily responsibilities, or the company culture, your questions can lead to insightful conversations.

DURING YOUR WORKPLACE INSIGHTS DAY

Capture highlights of your day of discovery.

Take note of who you meet and their roles within the company. These insights can broaden your understanding of the various career paths available.

Reflect on your feelings throughout the day. What inspired you? What surprised you?

BEFORE YOU GO

List job titles and roles that catch your interest. These notes can be a valuable resource as you consider potential career paths.

Identify the highlight of your day. Was it a particular conversation, learning about a new technology, or understanding the company's impact?

CONTEMPLATING CHANGES:

If there's one thing you'd do differently, what would it be? Reflecting on this can enhance your learning and personal growth.

AFTER YOUR WORKPLACE INSIGHTS DAY

Mini tasks to keep the learning alive.

Keeping the Flame Alive:

- Think about how you might maintain a connection with the the organisation. Perhaps join their mailing list, follow them on social media and perhaps attend their events.
- Consider the steps you need to take from where you are now to where you want to be. What education, skills, or experiences will you need to achieve your goals?

Mapping Your Pathway:

- Using the insights gained, start outlining a plan for your educational and career journey. Consider the roles that interested you today and research what it takes to get there.

Reflecting on Your Experience

As you close this chapter of your journey, remember that every experience is a stepping stone towards your future. Today was not just about exploring the world of work but about seeing yourself as part of that world, understanding the value you bring, and recognising the endless possibilities before you.

Looking Ahead

The NextGen Black Professionals Workplace Insights Day is just the beginning. Continue to seek out opportunities for growth, stay curious, and keep the conversations going. Remember, your path may evolve, but your potential is limitless.

As you move forward, keep this guide as a reminder of your journey, the insights you've gathered, and the goals you're striving towards.

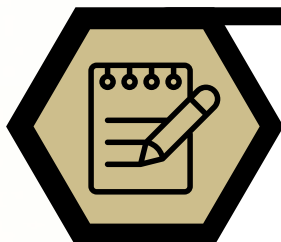

You're not just preparing for the future; you're shaping it.
